

GOV. WILSON STILL DOMINATES STATE

Issues Statement Urging Defeat of Edwards as Candidate for Treasurer.

VISITORS AT TRENTON

Members of Congress Call on Executive—Students Plan Washington Trip.

TRENTON, Jan. 6.—Gov. Wilson began to-day's work by definitely putting himself on record as opposed to the selection of Edward L. Edwards, a Jersey City banker, for State Treasurer. It was already known that he did not favor him because he considered it unwise that a man actively engaged in the banking business should have the selection of banks where State funds are to be placed. After announcing that he would confer with State Senators and Assemblymen here-to-morrow in regard to the matter he issued this statement:

I am sincerely sorry that the matter should have been given the air of a contest. I entertain nothing but the warmest and best feelings toward Mr. Edwards and very much regret to think that he has misrepresented my position. I feel very strongly indeed that a wise and inexpedient that a banker should be elected to the post of Treasurer of the State, no matter what his personal integrity or his conscientious and deliberate professional connections. I believe that the opinion of the State will sustain this judgment, and I sincerely hope that Mr. Grosscup will be chosen Treasurer of the State.

To-morrow is the last "Governor's Day" before the meeting of the Legislature, which will convene next Tuesday. The Governor had telegrams sent to each of the Senators and Assemblymen asking them to make a special effort to be here. He will talk with each of them personally regarding the election of a State Treasurer.

National Committee-man Robert S. Hudspeth, who may be named as Prosecutor of Hudson County, has been working with the Governor in getting the legislators into line for Mr. Grosscup, who is chairman of the Democratic State committee.

Representatives A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, Albert S. Burleson of Texas and Daniel J. McGillicuddy of Maine and Senator Charles F. Johnson of Maine and Judge William Hammond of Atlanta, Ga., visited Gov. Wilson.

Gov. Wilson is to decide whether or not he will practically the entire student body of Princeton University as his escort on the occasion of his inauguration as President. Early this morning the Governor expressed his approval of the scheme as outlined to him by Paul F. Myers, who is president of the Woodrow Wilson Club of the university, but deferred to any definite answer until the matter should have been laid before William Corcoran Eustis, the chairman of the committee on arrangements for the inauguration.

NORTHWEST FOR McCOMBS.

Urge Wilson's Manager as Secretary of the Treasury.

St. PAUL, Jan. 6.—The announcement from President-elect Woodrow Wilson that he is to make public the Democrats selected for his Cabinet all a one and the same time disclosed today the information that until the President-elect announces his Cabinet to the public, business men, financiers and those having to do with the Treasury Department in Washington intend to do everything in their power to bring about the appointment of William E. McCombs to be Secretary of the Treasury.

It is thoroughly realized by those interested in bringing about the selection of Mr. McCombs to be Secretary of the Treasury that the choice rests entirely with President-elect Wilson. Nevertheless, the Democrats of the Northwest who took an active interest in Wilson's campaign feel at perfect liberty to make their wishes known, and they believe that McCombs would make an ideal man for the place.

STEGER HAD SKULL FRACTURE.

Doubleday, Page Man Was in Bellevue Three Days, It Turns Out.

Harry Peyton Steger, who was with the firm of Doubleday, Page & Co., publishers, and who died in the Polytechnic Hospital on Sunday, was in Bellevue Hospital for three days last week suffering from a fractured skull. Mr. Steger was literary executor of O. Henry.

According to the records of Bellevue Mr. Steger was taken there on January 1 in a Flower Hospital ambulance. His case was diagnosed as a fractured skull.

Two days later, on Friday, he said he was feeling pretty well and wanted to be discharged. He was told this was out of the question. During the afternoon he dressed himself. When the nurse returned she remonstrated with him, but he insisted on going. There was no way of holding him, so he was allowed to go.

He went to the Caledonia Hotel, 23 West Twenty-sixth street, and the next morning fell ill. He was taken then to the Polytechnic Hospital, where he died.

A Mr. Doubleday inquired at Bellevue Hospital yesterday to learn why Mr. Steger had been allowed to leave when his condition was so serious. At the home of Frank Doubleday, a man who said he represented Mr. Doubleday said that Mr. Doubleday didn't believe there was any suggestion of foul play in connection with Mr. Steger's death. He said that if any Mr. Doubleday had been making inquiry for Mr. Steger it would be Russell Doubleday. Russell Doubleday didn't answer the telephone in his home in Hempstead, L. I., last night.

PAPAL DELEGATE IN BROOKLYN.

Archbishop Bonzano Celebrates Mass in Italian Church.

The Most Rev. Archbishop John Bonzano, the papal delegate came to Brooklyn yesterday from Washington for the special purpose of celebrating mass in the Italian Church of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary, at Hicks and Livingston Streets, in honor of the feast of the Epiphany.

The Archbishop celebrated pontifical mass, assisted by Auxiliary Bishop Mundelein. The ceremonies were conducted in the same way as those which take place in the church of San Andrea de la Villa, Rome, where the mass was preached by the Rev. Francis Molia.

Directly following the banquet at the rectory the papal delegate began his return journey to Washington.

Where Is the Shopping District?

Really in no one section or thoroughfare, or number of thoroughfares, but actually "all over New York." People "shop" all the way from the Battery to the Bronx, on the main thoroughfares and in cross streets, "East Side, West Side, All Around the Town."

Various sections have their own shopping districts. True, the big one is centralized near the great railroad depots, the hotels and the theatres.

But there is a vast amount of buying and selling done outside the so-called "shopping Centre."

Where is the residential district?

Same answer as above, and same conditions apply.

And the New York City Surface Cars penetrate into the remotest of these widely scattered districts at all hours of the day and night, carrying over 1,800,000 passengers every 24 hours. The incessant connection between stores and homes is apparent—the links between the Surface Cars.

It would pay YOU to advertise in them.
